FOUNDER'S NOTE

Redefining Healing, Reigniting Hope, Transforming Lives

When I reflect on my journey with cancer, I remember not only the challenges but also the profound awakening it brought. I came to understand that healing extends far beyond medical treatment—it is an intricate journey of the mind, body, and soul. This realisation became the foundation upon which Sanjeevani – Life Beyond Cancer was built: a movement committed to ensuring that no individual faces this journey alone.

"Cancer may have touched my body, but I chose not to let it define my spirit. Healing truly began the moment I looked beyond survival—discovering purpose in pain, strength in adversity, and a renewed meaning in life."

What began as a deeply personal vision has evolved into a collective force of compassion and resilience. My aspiration was to create a community of care—one where patients and their families could find not just support, but strength, awareness, and empowerment. Today, Sanjeevani stands as much more than an organisation; it is a family, a lifeline, and a beacon of hope and transformation for thousands of lives across the country.

The Yearbook 2025 is a reflection of this shared journey. It captures the unwavering dedication of our team, volunteers, partners, and supporters who continue to bring this vision to life. Over the past year, we have taken significant strides—expanding our reach, strengthening our programs, deepening our impact, and embracing innovation in integrative cancer care.

"Sanjeevani was never merely an organisation—it was a deeply personal promise to myself and to every cancer warrior that no one should have to face this journey alone. Having walked this path myself and known the weight of uncertainty, I came to realise that true healing goes far beyond medical care; when rooted in love, dignity, emotional strength, psychological resilience, and empowerment, it has the power to transform lives in ways beyond measure."

To every patient, caregiver, volunteer, and well-wisher who has walked this journey with us—thank you. Your trust and belief continue to strengthen our purpose. Together, we will keep redefining cancer care, shaping a future where healing is holistic, dignified, and truly life-affirming.

With gratitude,

IGNITING A YOUTH-LED MOVEMENT IN CANCER CARE: AWARENESS, WELLNESS, AND CHANGE

Young individuals today hold a remarkable opportunity—not merely to witness change, but to lead it. The fight against cancer extends far beyond hospital walls; it lives in everyday conversations, in awareness, in lifestyle choices, and in the conscious pursuit of holistic well-being. Their role is not defined by degrees or experience, but by their passion to create awareness, their courage to challenge stigma, and their compassion to stand beside those who need it most.

Sanjeevani – Life Beyond Cancer is not just addressing an illness; it is nurturing a movement—one where youth stand at the forefront of cancer awareness, integrative healing, and sustainable wellness. Whether through volunteering at cancer care centres, leading wellness initiatives, driving digital advocacy, or engaging in grassroots outreach, every effort becomes a step toward transforming lives.

Sanjeevani Life Beyond Cancer is not just treating an illness; it is shaping a movement—a movement where youth play a pivotal role in cancer awareness, integrative healing, and sustainable wellness. From volunteering at cancer care centres to leading wellness initiatives, from digital advocacy to grassroots outreach, every action taken has the potential to change a life.

Holistic healing is not confined to those battling cancer—it is a way of life. The food we consume, the breath we take, the thoughts we nurture, and the balance we strive for all shape a world where prevention and healing go hand in hand. The youth of today are the torchbearers of this philosophy, ensuring that wellness becomes a conscious, everyday practice rather than an afterthought. They are the bridge between generations, the voice redefining well-being, and the force that transforms awareness into meaningful action.

Sustainable wellness is not just an initiative—it is a shared responsibility. As we move forward, there is an urgent need to blend ancient wisdom with modern innovation, harnessing technology to make healing accessible to all. The Community Cancer Leader Program Sanjeevani's outreach initiative, exemplifies this vision—empowering youth to lead the digital transformation of care, extend support to every home, and ensure that no one walks this journey alone.

"The strength of a generation is not measured by its years but by its courage to challenge the past, transform the present, and build a future where healing is a right, not a privilege."

The time to act is now. Through education, advocacy, research, and direct patient support, young individuals have the power to shape a future where healing is not just possible, but inevitable—not just medical, but holistic—not just for a few, but for all.

This is a generation that does not wait for change.It becomes the change.

With purpose, passion, and the will to make a difference,

Shivanjali Ahluwalia

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON INTEGRATIVE CANCER CARE

NCICC 2025 emerged as a transformative platform that reimagined healing not as a linear process, but as a circular and sustainable journey of mind, body, and spirit. The conference invited a deeper reflection on whether healthcare can truly be holistic without caring for the planet, and whether ancient wisdom and modern science can come together to create more compassionate and effective models of cancer care.

Through a thoughtfully curated blend of workshops, panel discussions, and masterclasses, NCICC 2025 explored yog, ayurveda, nutrition, neuroscience, emotional resilience, sound therapy, art therapy, and cutting-edge technology—not as alternatives, but as powerful complements to conventional cancer treatment. The conference created a meaningful space where oncologists, researchers, integrative practitioners, survivors, and caregivers came together to exchange ideas and experiences rooted in empathy, collaboration, and whole-person healing.

Moving beyond the narrative of survival, NCICC 2025 emphasized the importance of sustainable thriving and integrative well-being. With over 300 participants attending in person and a virtual outreach of more than 3.4 lakh individuals, the conference sparked impactful conversations around redefining cancer care with dignity, balance, and humanity at its core.

What began as a conference has now evolved into a movement—one that is reshaping the future of cancer care by placing wholeness, compassion, sustainability, and inner healing at the heart of the journey.

At its heart, NCICC 2025 reinforced the belief that healing extends far beyond physical treatment—it is also about restoring hope, connection, emotional strength, and a sense of purpose. By creating a space where science, spirituality, lived experiences, and integrative practices could coexist meaningfully, the conference inspired a collective vision for the future of cancer care: one that is deeply humane, inclusive, and centered on empowering individuals to heal with dignity and resilience.

AHMEDABAD ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE: SHAPING FUTURE PATHWAYS IN CANCER CARE

The Round Table Conference held in Ahmedabad on 13th December 2025 by Sanjeevani Life Beyond Cancer brought together leading oncologists, policymakers, researchers, survivor-leaders, and community stakeholders to collectively reimagine cancer care through an integrative and patient-centric lens. Designed as a closed-door, solution-oriented forum, the conference addressed critical gaps in the current ecosystem—ranging from late diagnosis, fragmented care pathways, and financial toxicity to the under-integration of psychosocial and supportive care. Through multidisciplinary dialogue, the convening emphasized the urgent need to embed counselling, nutrition, rehabilitation, and palliative care early into treatment protocols, while strengthening collaboration between hospitals, government systems, and community organizations. Recognizing Gujarat's strong healthcare foundation, the Round Table positioned the state as a potential model for scalable integrative cancer care, with Sanjeevani playing a catalytic role as a bridge between clinical systems, policy frameworks, and lived patient experiences—driving forward a more humane, coordinated, and sustainable approach to cancer care.

The conference also underscored the importance of shifting the narrative of cancer care from being solely treatment-focused to one that prioritizes quality of life, dignity, and long-term survivorship. By fostering meaningful exchange between medical experts, civil society leaders, and survivor advocates, the Round Table created a collaborative platform for actionable solutions rooted in empathy and accessibility. The discussions reinforced a shared vision of building an ecosystem where integrative care is not viewed as an addition, but as an essential pillar of comprehensive oncology care—ensuring that every patient receives support that addresses not only the disease, but the emotional, social, and psychological realities that accompany it.

ADVANCING EVIDENCE-BASED INTEGRATIVE CARE: RESEARCH HIGHLIGHTS 2025

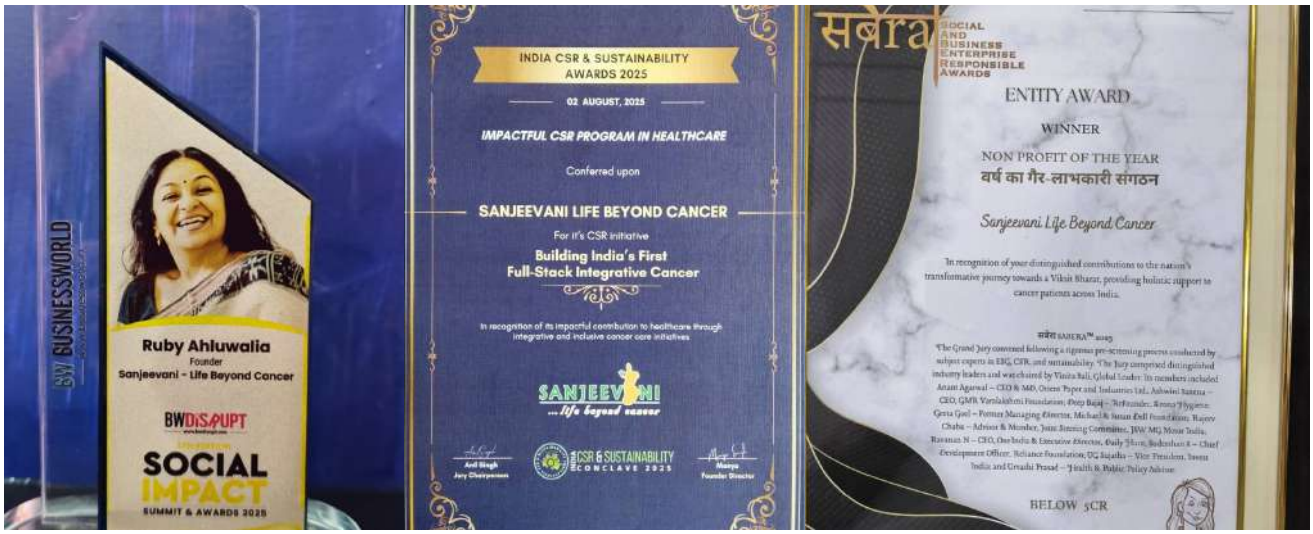

In 2025, Sanjeevani Life Beyond Cancer strengthened its commitment to evidence-based, patient-centered care through impactful research presentations at leading national platforms.

At TYAcon 2025 held in Ahmedabad, the team presented "Wellbeing and Distress Among Adolescents and Young Adults with Cancer: Preliminary Findings from an Ongoing Study," highlighting the critical emotional and psychological needs of young cancer warriors and reinforcing the importance of holistic care beyond medical treatment.

Furthering this momentum, at ISO-ISMPOCON 2025, Sanjeevani's research on "The Impact of a Curated 21-Day Virtual Program on the Emotional Health of Adult Cancer Patients in India" was recognized as the Best Poster—an achievement that underscores the organization's leadership in integrating compassion with scientific rigor.

Together, these milestones reflect Sanjeevani's growing role in shaping conversations around integrative oncology, advocating for care models that address not just the disease, but the emotional, social, and human dimensions of healing.

These recognitions also reflect Sanjeevani's continued efforts to bridge the gap between research and real-world patient impact by creating interventions that are accessible, scalable, and deeply rooted in lived experiences. By bringing the voices and emotional realities of cancer patients into academic and clinical conversations, the organization is helping shape a more compassionate and inclusive future for oncology care in India. Through its growing research contributions, Sanjeevani continues to advocate for integrative care models that place emotional well-being, resilience, and human connection at the center of the healing journey.

AWARDS & RECOGNITIONS 2025: CELEBRATING IMPACT WITH PURPOSE

Behind these honours lies a profound impact—supporting over 1.5 million cancer patients across 15 states and 33 centres—ensuring that care, dignity, and hope reach even the most underserved. These recognitions not only celebrate institutional excellence but also reflect the growing national acknowledgment of integrative and patient-centered cancer care as an essential part of the healthcare ecosystem. They reaffirm Sanjeevani's belief that healing extends beyond treatment to include emotional resilience, psychosocial support, nutrition, rehabilitation, and community care. As the organization continues to expand its reach and deepen its impact, these milestones serve as both an encouragement and a responsibility—to keep building accessible, compassionate, and sustainable models of care that empower patients and families to navigate cancer with strength, dignity, and hope.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON INTEGRATIVE CANCER CARE (NCICC)

National Conference on Integrative Cancer Care (NCICC) is a pioneering platform dedicated to redefining cancer care through an integrative and holistic approach that nurtures the mind, body, and spirit. It brings together oncologists, researchers, integrative practitioners, survivors, caregivers, and wellness experts to foster meaningful dialogue around compassionate, sustainable, and whole-person healing. Rooted in the belief that healing extends beyond physical treatment, NCICC creates a space where modern science and ancient wisdom coexist to explore approaches that support emotional resilience, inner well-being, and quality of life alongside conventional cancer care.

The Vision of NCICC

To establish a global epicentre of Integrative Cancer Care (ICC), where the precision of modern medical science harmoniously coexists with the depth of ancient healing wisdom. NCICC envisions a world where cancer care is not confined to clinical treatment alone, but evolves into a holistic journey—one that nurtures physical recovery while also restoring emotional balance, mental strength, and spiritual well-being.

The Mission of NCICC

NCICC seeks to catalyse a paradigm shift in the way cancer care is understood and delivered. It aims to build a healthcare movement that acknowledges the necessity of integrative approaches—rooted firmly in evidence, driven by empathy, and guided by equity and accessibility. Through its work, NCICC endeavours to:

- Create meaningful and sustained dialogue between diverse disciplines—oncology, psychology, nutrition, traditional medicine, and holistic healing practices
- Champion a patient-centric model of care where individual needs, experiences, and voices are central to decision-making
- Strengthen and embed the bio-psycho-social framework within mainstream cancer care systems
- Advocate for sustainable, scalable, and system-integrated models that make holistic healing accessible to all, not just a privileged few

Why This Matters

Because cancer care today often focuses on survival, while overlooking the quality of that survival. NCICC addresses this gap by recognising that healing is not merely the absence of disease, but the presence of well-being in every dimension of life.

It dares to venture into those deeper, often unexplored pathways of healing—where resilience is rebuilt, hope is rekindled, and individuals rediscover meaning and strength within themselves. It brings together science and sensitivity, treatment and tenderness, knowledge and compassion.

At its core, NCICC is a movement to humanise cancer care. It is about shifting the focus from illness to the individual, from protocols to people, and from treatment to true healing. It is an invitation to reimagine a future where every person facing cancer is supported not just to survive, but to live with dignity, strength, and wholeness.

NCICC 2025: IMPACT, PARTICIPATION & THE EMERGENCE OF A MOVEMENT

From Gathering to Movement

What began as a conference has now evolved into a powerful and purposeful movement. The National Conference on Integrative Cancer Care (NCICC) is no longer just an event—it is a living, growing ecosystem that is reshaping how cancer care is perceived and practiced. At its heart lies a simple yet profound belief: that healing must extend beyond treatment, and that care must embrace the whole human being.

NCICC 2025 stood as a testament to this vision. With over 300 in-person participants and an extraordinary 3.4 lakh virtual attendees, the conclave created a deeply immersive and inclusive space for dialogue, discovery, and shared healing. Through workshops, masterclasses, and deeply reflective panel discussions, voices from science, spirit, and lived experience came together—not in silos, but in synergy. It was not merely about exchanging knowledge; it was about co-creating understanding. It was about listening as much as speaking. And above all, it was about building a collective commitment to reimagine cancer care as a journey rooted in wholeness, dignity, and inner transformation.

"What began as a summit became a sanctuary—a space where people didn't just speak, they felt heard. And healing became not a goal, but a shared commitment."

Depth Beyond Scale

Held at the ESG Complex in Panjim, Goa, Bharat, from April 2–5, 2025, NCICC 2025 marked its second edition with not just expanded reach, but significantly deeper engagement and impact.

This landmark gathering brought together a rare and diverse collective—clinicians, healers, scientists, caregivers, survivors, and policy thinkers—united under one roof with a shared mission: to humanise cancer care through integrative frameworks.

Key Highlights:

- 300+ in-person participants
- 3,40,000+ live-stream attendees from India and across the globe
- 45+ distinguished speakers and facilitators spanning modern medicine, traditional healing systems, and policy
- 5 high-impact panel discussions bridging evidence with empathy
- 12 experiential workshops exploring areas such as breathwork, trauma healing, and inner child work
- 6 masterclasses led by experts in yoga, nutrition, Ayurveda, and emotional wellness
- Each session was designed not only to inform but to transform—to offer participants tools, insights, and experiences that could be carried back into their professional and personal ecosystems.

Participation: A Truly Multidisciplinary Collective

The true strength of NCICC 2025 lay in its diversity—a rare coming together of disciplines, perspectives, and lived experiences, where collaboration replaced hierarchy, every voice held value, and meaningful cross-pollination allowed clinical science to meet experiential healing, with knowledge seamlessly merging into wisdom.

"When a psycho-oncologist and a sound therapist sit side by side—not to compete but to co-create—a new future for healthcare is born. This is what NCICC makes possible."

Srjan: A Holistic Pathway to Cancer Recovery

Cancer is not just a physical battle; it is an emotional and psychological journey that can deeply impact a person's identity, confidence, and outlook on life. While medical treatment addresses the disease, true healing extends far beyond hospital walls. Srjan, an initiative by Sanjeevani Life Beyond Cancer, was created to empower cancer survivors with the tools to rebuild, redefine, and rejuvenate their lives with strength and resilience.

The inspiration behind Srjan is deeply personal. Founded on the lived experiences of cancer survivors, the initiative recognises that beyond physical recovery, survivors often struggle with fear, isolation, emotional distress, and uncertainty about the future. Srjan was conceptualised to provide a holistic and supportive healing environment that nurtures emotional well-being, lifestyle transformation, and sustainable wellness.

Rooted in the foundational principles of the Satori Holistic Healing Program, Srjan adopts an integrative approach to recovery by combining wellness practices, emotional support, mindfulness, and practical lifestyle interventions. The initiative aims to move survivors beyond survival toward a life of balance, purpose, confidence, and improved quality of life.

Objectives

- To support the emotional, mental, and physical well-being of cancer survivors
- To equip survivors with practical tools for sustainable and healthy living
- To encourage lifestyle modifications that strengthen resilience and overall wellness
- To help survivors build confidence, positivity, and stronger support systems

Sessions Offered

Srjan provides structured and interactive sessions focused on holistic healing and long-term well-being, including:

- Understanding Integrative Healthcare Strategies
- Nutritional Strategies for healing and wellness
- Unveiling the science of yoga and pranayama to manage treatment side effects
- Role of breathing with awareness in building immunity and healing
- Learning tools to maintain mental health and understanding its impact on the body's biochemistry
- Building positive mental constructs and emotional resilience
- Learning techniques to reduce anxiety and fear while creating support systems
- Cultivating mind-body harmony and understanding its impact on overall health

Healing does not end with treatment; it continues in the choices survivors make, the resilience they cultivate, and the communities that uplift them. Through Srjan, cancer warriors are not just surviving — they are healing, thriving, and reclaiming their futures with renewed hope, strength, and purpose.

"True recovery is not about going back to who you were before cancer, it is about embracing who you can become beyond it."

Aham Sanjeevani

Sanjeevani Life Beyond Cancer believes that healing extends far beyond medical treatment. Recognising the long-term emotional, physical, psychological, and social challenges faced by cancer survivors, the organisation launched AHAM SANJEEVANI — a continued care and survivor-support initiative for patients who have completed the Satori Holistic Healing Program. The initiative creates a nurturing ecosystem where survivors continue their healing journey through holistic care, peer connection, and shared resilience.

While cancer treatment may conclude medically, recovery often continues emotionally and socially. Survivors frequently experience anxiety, emotional distress, fatigue, lifestyle challenges, and isolation. AHAM SANJEEVANI was conceptualised to bridge this gap through a compassionate, community-driven support system that enables survivors to heal collectively and lead meaningful lives beyond cancer.

The initiative provides continued holistic support through integrative healing practices that promote physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual well-being. It aims to build a strong peer-support community, reduce social isolation, strengthen resilience, and encourage survivor-led participation and engagement
Patients who complete the Satori Holistic Healing Program are encouraged to voluntarily enroll as members, free of cost. Members receive access to 104 structured sessions annually, including yoga and pranayama, mindfulness and guided meditation, nutrition guidance, art-based therapy, Reiki healing, pain management support, lymphedema care, and peer interaction. The program fosters a safe and empathetic environment where survivors connect, learn, heal, and grow together.

Through sustained engagement and community participation, AHAM SANJEEVANI aims to improve survivors' quality of life by strengthening emotional resilience, encouraging healthier lifestyles, reducing fear and loneliness, and building long-term peer support networks.

AHAM SANJEEVANI represents a transformative shift from beneficiary-led care to survivor-led leadership. Survivors are empowered not only to continue their own healing journeys but also to inspire and support others facing similar challenges. More than a membership program, it is a movement of hope, resilience, and empowerment that continues to transform lives beyond treatment.

Additionally, AHAM SANJEEVANI serves as a platform for survivors to rediscover confidence, purpose, and a renewed sense of belonging. By encouraging meaningful participation, shared experiences, and collective healing, the initiative nurtures a compassionate community where survivors become advocates of strength and hope for one another, reinforcing the belief that no one has to navigate life beyond cancer alone.

- Training: Focus on cancer basics, communication skills, and patient support pathways
- Roles: Conduct at least one awareness camp per week within their communities

Support & Motivation

CCLs receive a small honorarium to encourage consistent participation, support grassroots efforts, and foster dignity and ownership in community service.

Expected Outcomes

- Increased awareness on cancer prevention and early detection
- Improved timely diagnosis and care-seeking behavior
- Stronger community-based support systems
- A scalable and sustainable grassroots health model

Sanjeevani – Life Beyond Cancer is a beacon of hope for underprivileged cancer patients and their families. Ruby Ahluwalia's inspiring journey and resilience deeply moved me and strengthened my belief in the power of compassionate care. What makes Sanjeevani truly special is its holistic approach, supporting patients not just medically, but emotionally, nutritionally, and psychologically as well. Through counselling, nourishment, guidance, and constant reassurance, the organization brings comfort and hope during one of life's toughest battles. I feel privileged to be associated with Sanjeevani and to contribute, in my own way, to its meaningful mission.
